

Students' Presentations on Communicative English

Dates: 20-24th June, 2022

Notice:

Introduction: As an extension activity of the AECC English Course for UG Semester II students the English Department decided to hold a series of special classroom sessions where the interested students from among those having AECC English were involved in practising their English communication skills through classroom presentations, group discussions, debates etc. Since many of the students come from Bengali Medium schools they lack fluency in English and feel under-confident while speaking in English. These sessions were planned as a supplement to the AECC English curriculum and aimed to encourage the students to speak confidently in English.

Brief Report: The special sessions on Communicative English were conducted by Prof. Swaty Mitra from the English Department. The students had already been taught the basics of good communication and spoken English skills as part of their AECC curriculum and these sessions were meant to engage the students in real life scenarios where they would need to communicate their ideas in a formal setting. After a basic orientation session in which the students were familiarized with the ways of conducting group discussions and presentations with relevant video clips and study material they were divided in groups according to their departments. Some of the groups were given various topics pertaining to their honours subjects for group discussions, while other groups were given topics for debate. While a certain group made their presentation the other groups were encouraged to ask questions or present their observations so that the presentation did not become a one sided affair and the presenters were made to deliver quick responses in English thereby increasing their fluency.

Number of Participants: Around 200 students from among those who have AECC English participated in these sessions and around 130 of them made the final submissions in the form of short videos which were posted on the college YouTube channel to further encourage the efforts of the students.
