

WORLD PHILOSOPHY DAY AND CROSS CUTTING ISSUE

World Philosophy Day has been celebrated by the department of Philosophy in collaboration with IQAC, Barasat Government College on 26.11.2024. Topic of the discussion was “Embracing Environmental Sustainability”.

Two invited speakers were

1. Prof. (Dr.) Preetam Ghosal, Professor, Department of Philosophy, JU.

Topic of Discussion:

Perspectives on Naturalism in Indian Philosophy

2. Prof (Dr.) Atreyee Mukherjee, Professor & Head – Dept. of Philosophy, WBSU

Topic of Discussion:

Eco- Feminism: A Primer

The theme discussed is very much consists of cross-cutting issues. It is directly related with environmental issues since the theme very much insists on the understanding on of how to develop world sustainability. Respect to the environment, promote sustainable development and also encourage the interacts of current and future generations.

Topic Discussed by Dr. Preetam Ghosal deals with environmental issues from naturalistic standpoint.

Dr. Atreyee Mukherjee's discussion however has feministic gender issue. She in her discussion on eco feminism highlighted on the view that ecofeminism is a branch of feminism and political ecology. Eco-feminist explores the connections between women and nature in culture, economy, religion, politics, etc. and addresses the culturally constructed parallels between the oppression of nature and that of women. Hence, the discussion both has environmental and gender issue.

WORLD PHILOSOPHY DAY AND CROSS CUTTING ISSUE

Poster competition was organised on the theme “Embracing Environmental Sustainability “.
Where students of the department and even of other departments have participated.
