

Department of Sanskrit
Excursions and educational trips

Though the department does not undertake formal study tours for students the teachers in their personal capacities often take small groups of students to short excursions. While trips to the Book Fair and historical places of Kolkata and Shantiniketan acquainted the students with the cultural heritage of Bengal, excursions to the Botanical Garden aimed at inculcating a love of nature and ecological consciousness among the students. Thus, these short trips not only break the boredom of classroom teaching, but also help in the holistic development of the students who often come from underprivileged families and do not have much cultural exposure.
